

DYLAN MEEK

A seventh generation Texan, from a family of glass artists, literature professors, psychologists, and rocket engineers, Dylan was raised in Wimberley, TX. At 14, Harlem piano master Jimmy Neely took him in as a protege, passing along nearly a century of wisdom and music. At 17, he moved to Boston to live with his brother Buck Meek (Big Thief) and play organ and piano at gospel churches like Grant AME & Good Shepherd. These experiences provided the first inspiration for him to start singing.

He then moved to NYC and lived there for 7 years. Dylan's friend and collaborator Ray Angry (the Roots) helped initiate him into the world of hip hop & production & connected him with Om'mas Keith (producer of Frank Oceans: Channel Orange and Blond), who he went on to collaborate with on several projects including one Dylan is Grammy Nominated for.

Since moving to Los Angeles in 2016, Dylan has worked with: Dawes, Mavis Staples, Conan O'Brian, Jack White, Brittany Howard, Nathaniel Rateliff, Quavo, Questlove, Darkchild, Post Malone, The Marias, Dashboard Confessional, The Wanted, Miguel, Metroboomin, Tiffany Haddish, Mike Judge, James Bourne (Busted), Tom Odell etc.. Now at 34 years old, with a lifetime's worth of collaboration with so many legends, Dylan dedicates his focus primarily on writing and performing his own original songs, touring his music, self-producing and engineering his Records: first all original solo record "All I Need" (released 2022), and his finished 2nd self produced album entitled "Love Languages" (10 song album set to be released in September 2025 with singles coming out starting in April, May, June, and July) . The album "Love Languages" will be released by the record label Liquid Culture who Dylan signed with in January 2025.
